 Prior to October 1, 2014 and the implementation of the Commonwealth's new financial accounting and reporting system (Cardinal) all payments immediately reduced cash when processed (in CARS). The new Cardinal financial system operates on a modified accrual basis and cash balances are not affected until the voucher's due date. The Cardinal system generates an offsetting entry to a liability account (accounts payable) when the voucher is processed. Once the voucher due date arrives, the payment is made, the liability is relieved and cash is now reduced.

 Non-general fund Transfers required by Virginia Acts of Assembly Part 3-1.01F for expenses incurred by central service agencies due on or before June 30.

Disposition of Cases Involving Unlicensed Use of the CPA Title by Previously Licensed Individuals¹

The Virginia Board of Accountancy (“VBOA”) delegates to the Executive Director for the Board the authority to resolve disciplinary cases in which a previously licensed certified public accountant (“CPA”) engages in use of the CPA title when he/she no longer holds a current active Virginia CPA license due solely from an inadvertent failure to timely renew, and does not meet the requirements to use the CPA title in Virginia under the substantial equivalency provisions of § 54.1-4411 and has not been granted Inactive status.

In cases where the individual, based on the facts and circumstances, would have been eligible for Inactive status had he/she applied, the Board adopted the following guidelines for resolution of cases:

Length of Expiration	Possible Action
First offense 15 days or less	Advisory Letter
First offense (self-report) 16- 90 days or less	Advisory Letter
First offense (all others) 16- 90 days or less	Consent Order; Reprimand
First offense (self-report) 91 days to 180 days	Consent Order; Reprimand and Monetary Penalty of $250

Inadvertent use of the CPA title through failure to update an inactive LinkedIn profile without the intent to deceive, and similar de minimis violations, shall generally be handled with an Advisory Letter. Actions taken to resolve these violations, when not accompanied by a monetary penalty, shall not be considered “disciplinary action” for the purposes of VBOA Policy #5, “Publication of Disciplinary Action.”

¹ In all cases, expired individuals must reinstate once the license goes into expired status. Reinstating a Virginia individual CPA license must include meeting the requirements of Code of Virginia § 54.1-4413.2, meeting the continuing professional education requirements in accordance with VBOA regulation 18VAC5-22-90, and submitting an individual CPA License Reinstatement Form to the VBOA with the required non-refundable fee of $350, CPE documentation and other requested information.

In cases where the individual has practiced public accounting, has used the CPA title in signing tax returns or power of attorney forms during the time period when their license was expired, or whose job duties require a substantial use of accounting, financial, or tax, the Board adopted the following guidelines for resolution of cases:

Length of Expiration	Possible Action
First offense 15 days or less	Advisory Letter
First offense (self-report) 16- 90 days or less	Advisory Letter
First offense (all others) 16-90 days or less	Consent Order; Reprimand

Notwithstanding the foregoing, in cases in which there is a suspicion of a willful act, the licensee will be scheduled for an IFF conference.

Association of Chartered Accountants (ACCA)

Nancy Glynn, CPA
Executive Director

Overview

- ACCA is a credentialing organization for Chartered Certified Accountants (UK, Commonwealth, other countries)
- CCA ≠ CPA
- ACCA does not require four-year degree, university courses
 - For US applicants, high school + 3 AP credits is sufficient to apply
- Some CPA applicants arrive with ACCA credentials / education, claim equivalency with four-year degrees

ACCA Credentials

- “Diploma in Accounting and Business” – offered by ACCA after 6-12 months of study
- “Advanced Diploma in Accounting and Business” – offered by ACCA after 12-18 months of study
- “Diploma in International Financial Accounting” – offered by ACCA Registered Learning Partners (RLPs)
 - RLPs may be accredited colleges or training companies
 - Diploma issued by ACCA, not the RLP

Enhanced ACCA Qualifications

Bachelor of Science (Honors)
BSc (Hons) in Applied Accounting

- Requires ACCA courses + research project
- Degree granted by Oxford Brookes University

Master of Science
MSc in Professional Accountancy

- May be completed remotely
- Degree granted by University of London

Mutual Recognition Agreements

Mutual Recognition Agreements (MRA) are agreements adopted between the AICPA/NASBA International Qualification Appraisal Board (IQAB) and various countries for the purpose of recognizing equivalency in exam, education and experience.

NASBA has MRAs with:

- Chartered Accountants Australia and New Zealand (CAANZ)
- Hong Kong Institute of Certified Public Accountants (HKICPA)
- 6 others

NASBA does not recognize the ACCA credential and there is no MRA in place

California – only known state that has ruled specifically on ACCA

“In California, at a minimum, education shall be from a degree-granting university, college, or other institution of learning (Business and Professions Code §5094(b)). Education earned through the Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA) does not meet California’s education requirements, unless they are transferred into and awarded credit by a degree granting university. If this occurs, the education may be accepted towards meeting the CBA education requirements for exam and or licensure.”

Summary / Recommendation

- Only organizations that have entered into an MRA with NASBA and the AICPA will be recognized.
- Completion of ACCA coursework/credential will not be recognized by VBOA as acceptable coursework or a substantially equivalent credential.

Recommendation for the Virginia Board of Accountancy

VBOA will only accept organizations that have entered into an MRA with NASBA and the AICPA. Therefore, completion of ACCA coursework/credential will not be recognized by VBOA as acceptable coursework or substantially equivalent credential.

Overview

The Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA) offers credentials for accountancy in the United Kingdom and many other countries, including the United States. ACCA's flagship program is the Chartered Certified Accountant (CCA) credential. This title is not considered equivalent to Certified Public Accountant (CPA).

Applicants to ACCA's programs are not necessarily graduates from colleges or universities. Persons certified by ACCA do not appear to have taken courses for the same length of time, or of the same intensity, as an American undergraduate degree. Persons certified by ACCA may have taken courses from accredited colleges or universities, but the balance of probability weighs heavily against this assumption. ACCA has partnered with a limited number of colleges and universities, some of whom appear to be accredited, to provide advanced degrees.

Eligibility for ACCA programs

Entry requirements for ACCA programs are lower than that of the AICPA. Persons eligible to enroll in ACCA programs generally must have completed secondary education.

Applicants from the United States and the British Virgin Islands are not required to have a bachelor's degree from an accredited institution. However, a high school diploma is insufficient for registration by itself. The following qualifications are considered sufficient for Americans:

- a high school diploma and at least three AP exam credits (with grades of 3 or above)
- matriculation to university (graduation is not required; some courses may grant exemptions to parts of the ACCA curriculum)
- Caribbean Advanced Proficiency Examination (CAPE) diploma
- Graduate certificate

For comparison, a variety of qualifications exists for British applicants (the United Kingdom and Gibraltar). The "standard" British qualification¹, listed first on the ACCA website and prioritized on most third-party study websites, is two A-levels and three GCSE passes.

¹ This is standard for England and Wales; education in the United Kingdom is devolved, with Scotland in particular operating a similar but separate system.

A-levels are school leaving certificates: they are awarded to students completing secondary or pre-university education. GCSEs are exams taken at the end of Year 11 in England and Wales (equivalent to 10th Grade in the United States).

While the educational systems of the United States and the United Kingdom are not exactly identical, it should not be assumed that a person holding an ACCA credential has graduated from a college or university, particularly given the listed qualifications for American applicants.

Intensity and length of ACCA programs

ACCA offers two intermediate credentials for students on the path to taking their exam for the Chartered Certified Accountant:

- ACCA Diploma in Accounting and Business

This credential is described on ACCA's website as "RQF Level 4." The Regulated Qualifications Framework (RQF) is used in England and Northern Ireland for certain professional and vocational qualifications. There is not an exact equivalent between RQF and any specific American credential. However, for comparison, an A-level in the United Kingdom is described as being of RQF Level 3, a bachelor's degree is considered equivalent to Level 6, a master's degree is considered equivalent to Level 7, and a doctorate is considered equivalent to Level 8.

RQF Level 4 is described in some sources as being equivalent to a year's study at university. ACCA's website claims that the ACCA Diploma in Accounting and business can be completed in as little as 6-12 months.

- Advanced Diploma in Accounting and Business

This credential is not given an RQF Level on ACCA's website or in their explanatory pamphlet. The Advanced Diploma is attained by completing additional coursework, including the "Ethics and Professional Skills module."

If progression is similar to that described for ACCA's Diploma, the Advanced Diploma is likely equivalent to RQF Level 5 and might be considered equivalent to an American two-year vocational degree or certificate. ACCA's website claims that the Advanced Diploma may be obtained in as little as 12-18 months.

Some of the requirements for these programs might be waived if the applicant has previous college or university coursework, or if the applicant has previous experience with ACCA.

Registered Learning Partners

ACCA has partnered with a variety of institutions as Registered Learning Partners and maintains a searchable directory of those institutions. Registered Learning Partners offer courses towards a diploma² and several certificates in accounting-related subjects.

The overwhelming majority of Registered Learning Partners (RLPs) are private training companies, some of which appear to have been founded specifically to train accountants. For example, the only two British RLPs are the ExP Group (a private company offering training primarily in ACCA credentials) and First Intuition (described on Wikipedia as “a United Kingdom based provider of accountancy training”).

Nor do other countries differ. Nigeria’s listed RLPs are Hedge Professional Services Limited, Ivyleague Associates Limited, and Synergy Professionals. Egypt’s listed RLPs are Nearshore Middle East S.A.E. and Highly Professional Advisors. Vietnam’s listed RLPs are Smart Train and Vietsourcing Business Consultancy Company Limited.

Some RLPs have misleading names which may include the word “Academy,” “Institute,” or “College.” For example, ACCA lists “Arthur Portland College” as an RLP from Botswana. ArthurPortland does not describe itself as a college on its own website. Interestingly, ArthurPortland describes itself as an ICAEW Partner in Learning. The Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales is an accountancy organization comparable to ACCA.

There are a limited number of RLPs that can be confirmed as accredited post-secondary educational institutions:

- Griffith College Cork in Ireland offers the Diploma in International Financial Accounting in partnership with ACCA. It is an accredited institution, being affiliated with Ireland’s national regulatory bodies (including QQI and HECA). It also offers degrees in law, journalism, and other fields besides accountancy.
- Majan College in Oman offers the Diploma in International Financial Reporting in partnership with ACCA. It is accredited and closely affiliated with the University of Bedfordshire in the UK, with whom it collaborates on classes. It is a private college which offers courses in business, computer science, and English.
- Oshwal College in Kenya is a “post-modern tertiary institution” which offers degrees in accountancy, business, and information technology. However, it only offers certificate programs in partnership with ACCA.
- Taylor’s College in Malaysia is a for-profit college with a variety of degree programs and a number of notable Malaysian alumni. However, it only offers certificate programs in partnership with ACCA.
- Universidad ORT Uruguay is Uruguay’s largest private university. A member of the international World ORT network, which promotes Jewish education, it is fully accredited by Uruguay's national regulatory bodies and offers a wide variety of degrees in many subjects. However, it only offers certificate programs in partnership with ACCA.

The above list is not intended to be comprehensive, only representative.

Enhanced qualifications

In addition to its diploma programs, ACCA offers two advanced degrees in partnership with accredited universities: a BSc (Hons) in Applied Accounting from Oxford Brookes University and an MSc in Professional Accountancy from the University of London.³

The BSc (Hons) does not have a specifically enumerated length, save that students may not take longer than ten years in completing it. The degree is earned by completing ACCA's courses and completing a research project.

The MSc may be completed remotely from a number of participating professional and educational institutions. The University of London website describes programme duration as between six months and five years.

Both programs appear to be of significant academic rigor and would likely compare favorably to similar degrees in the United States.

Summary

NASBA does not consider any of the ACCA course to be acceptable towards exam education requirements. NASBA does have mutual recognition agreements with many other professional bodies, two of which ACCA also recognizes via mutual recognition agreement.

California is the only state that we could find that accepts some ACCA credits. California's Board of Accountancy made the following statement:

In California, at a minimum, education shall be from a degree-granting university, college, or other institution of learning (Business and Professions Code §5094(b)). Education earned through the Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA) does not meet California's education requirements, unless they are transferred into and awarded credit by a degree granting university. If this occurs, the education may be accepted towards meeting the CBA education requirements for exam and or licensure.

³ The specific institution which offers the MSc is University College London.
